Welcome Back to School

Welcome back bulldogs! What a great start to the 2023-24 school year. It's so nice to see students and staff back in school buildings, at sporting events, and at performances.

We had an exciting start to the school year, by opening a brand new building for Robert L. Nickels Intermediate School. I spent the first day of school at Nickels, welcoming students and staff into the new space. I saw a lot of big smiles and excitement for the new learning environment. The transition into the building has been very smooth. Students and staff are really enjoying their new school. Thank you again to everyone who helped make this project a reality.

Construction is underway at the former NIS building, to transform it into a new K-4 elementary school for BCPS. Old walls are coming down and new walls are going up to create a brand new layout to help with better classroom sizes, more small group rooms, and age specific hallway wings. This fourth elementary school is important to the growth of Byron Center as we continue to welcome more families each year. We are looking forward to the opening of this new elementary school in the 2024-25 school year.

Bulldog pride is alive and well across the district and we have many things to celebrate here in Byron Center. From academics, to arts, to athletics, we are seeing success across the board. Students have earned top academic honors for their hardwork. Our talented fine arts students practice for hours on end to perform at their best. BC student-athletes have shown their dedication, with multiple fall athletic teams qualifying for state competition this year. Our amazing staff earned Educator of the Year and leadership honors from the Byron Center Chamber of Commerce, you truly represent all of BC.

I am looking forward to the school year ahead, I know it will be a good one. I am excited to continue our Bulldog success in and out of the classroom. Thank you students, staff, Board of Education, parents, and community members for your continued support of Byron Center Public Schools. Let's make it a great year!

Sincerely,

Kevin Macina, Ph.D.

NEW Nickels Intermediate

After nearly three years of construction, the new Robert L. Nickels Intermediate School building opened to students and staff for the 2023-24 school year. Byron Center Public Schools invited the community to celebrate the grand opening of the new building and to see the history of BC live on.

The 134,000 square foot facility is home to 5th and 6th grade BCPS students. The new building is equipped with flexible learning spaces, breakout rooms, brand new technology, and a state-of-the-art gym, cafeteria, and classrooms for music, art, and STEM.

“This building is built to withstand a long test of time within Byron Center,” Superintendent Kevin Macina said. “It gives our students the space they need to learn and it gives our district room to grow. This building is for the future of Byron Center.”

BCPS thanks Tower Pinkster, Owen-Ames-Kimball, and everyone involved in this special project. We appreciate all of the work put in to get this building up and running. Thank you to the Byron Center community for your support to make this a reality.

“I’m so excited to have the privilege to learn in an environment with so many new resources. Thank you for taking so much time and effort on making this new wonderful building.”

Lilia Damsgaard, NIS 6th grader

“I am really excited that I get to be a part of the first 6th grade class to be in this school. Thank you to all the workers, the community, and all the teachers that helped put this school together.”

Alexa Barr, NIS 6th grader

Published Author

Congratulations to Byron Center Public Schools' Nutrition Services Director Vince Sturgis for publishing a children's book! The book, Lunch Ladies Changing Lives: It's Crunch Time, follows two lunch ladies who make a big impact on the students they serve.

"I was looking for a fun children's book for my food services staff, but found out one didn't exist. So I decided to write my own," Sturgis said. "This book encourages kids to have fun with food and make the most of their lunchtime, while teaching important lessons about the value of a good meal and laughter."

Sturgis is reading his book to students in classrooms across the district as a fun way to encourage kids to make healthy choices.

Lunch Ladies Changing Lives: It's Crunch Time can be found on Amazon and Barnes & Noble.

Nickels Bench Dedication

The Byron Center Public Schools Maintenance/Grounds team built a beautiful bench for Nickels Intermediate School to honor Facilities and Operations Director Doug Gallup. The crew used wood harvested from trees at the current Nickels location and materials from the old Nickels building to construct the bench.

The bench has a sign that reads "Trying To Be A Blessing," which is one Doug's sayings that he tries to live by. BC is very thankful for Doug's leadership.

The bench sits in the main entrance of Nickels Intermediate School.

Marching Band

The Byron Center High School marching band has practiced over the summer, gearing up for their fall competition season. The marching band's theme for 2023 is Wanted - A Western Adventure.

Good luck to the band this season!

In the classroom

Students are back in the classroom and jumping right into learning. At West Middle School, students worked on STEAM (science, technology, engineering, arts, and mathematics) collaborative animations. They used technology tools and animation methods that they learned to create 30 second PSAs that focus on the concepts of healthy choices, celebrating diversity, and building character.

Theatre

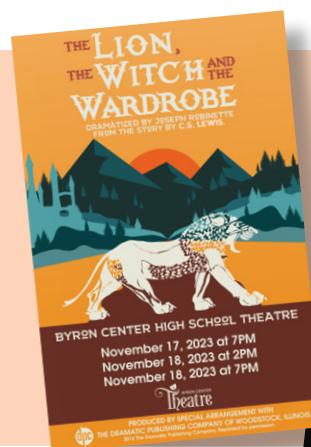

The Van Singel Fine Arts Center's community theatre program put on a production of The Sound of Music. Many Byron Center Public Schools students and staff starred in the show, including Byron Center High School administrative assistant Betsi Ingersoll who played Maria!

"Students and adults from all across the community auditioned for the show," VSFAC Managing Director Michelle Wagner said. "It's really neat to see whole families involved in a production."

- The Lion, the Witch, and the Wardrobe, November 2023
